But how are children's rights in Switzerland and Liechtenstein being implemented? Or, put another way: Children, how are you doing? We'd like to hear from you. Because often it's only adults talking about what children need. Now you can join that conversation.

The "Child Rights Barometer" project includes a survey. This survey is to be completed by children in Switzerland and Liechtenstein. The results will be published in a report. Your responses will help adults (politicians, parents, teachers, etc.) understand what they can make better for children in Switzerland and Liechtenstein.
